The adolescents are able to encourage socialization and communication in internet access The data is obtained from some resources such as Library research, journals, articles and online newspapers. The principles, theories and relevant matters to the quality of this study It can be enhance information through social media. The investigation result all teenagers using social media as a crucial reasons, several of them to browsing data and it makes easier than they have to go at the library and each other have reasons to make communication and certain things.

Keywords: Influence, Social media online, Adolescents, Teenager ,

Introduction The various online media sites have the opportunity to connect with a variety of sites both with friends, WA, Instagram, twitter and this includes virtual world opportunities (Hinduja S & Patchin J, 2007). This is due in part to this generation building social networks through telephone and internet access with self-regulation and vulnerability to peer pressure and influence, adolescents are at risk of navigating and trying to experiment with social media.

Recent research shows that the behavior of young people both online and offline, has an impact on bullying, clique-forming. (Palfrey J, Gasser U, & Boyd D, 2010). In addition, He explained that parental attitudes are less sensitive to teenagers because the lack of early understanding often affects the children's personal interest in online media that ultimately impact the lack of synergy between parents and adolescents in the scientific aspects.

The inability to become the biggest obstacle continues in various forms that have a weak parental supervision.. (Jenkins H et al, 2006). Thus, for these reasons it is crucial to consider the positive and negative sides of using social media for children and adolescents, as well as the role of parents in controlling their children using social media.

Therefore, this study aims to answer the research questions below: What the influence of adolescents using social media online? What are the risks of youth using social media online? How parents to protect their adolescents in using social media online? Literature Review The Benefit Adolescents Using Social Media Social media provide with a range of benefits, and opportunities to empower in several of ways.

The adolescents have to maintain social connections and support networks that otherwise would not be possible, and it can be access more information than ever before. In addition, adolescents have been able to access various knowledge easily and anonymously. According (Krishna S et al, 2009): a mobile application, teenagers will have the opportunity to learn about their various health problems and communicate, However, the role of parents is very necessary to accompany children to access the internet is to the success of early learning in social media, so that children believe, they use reliable online resources, interpret information correctly, and do not become overwhelmed with the flow of information they read on social online media.

Risks of using social media teenagers he most vulnerable risk for teenagers using social media is the emergence of Cyber intimidation. Cyber bullying and leading digital to unknowing criminal acts deliberately use digital media that means to communicate false information, embarrassment, or dissemination of lying news, hate speech that creates hostility and others. has a greater impact on young people.

The biggest risk is precisely affecting teenagers in the following categories of peer-to-peer; inappropriate content; Weak understanding of online privacy issues; and influence of other groups or the influence of advertising. Almost teenagers have been sent or posted naked or seminude photos or video call by hand phone.. Some teenagers who have collected or indicted by pornography accusations of child crimes, although some countries have begun to kiss behaviors like adolescent-law criminals Some teenagers who have been involved in sexting have been threatened or charged with child pornography charges of crime, although some countries have begun to shrink behavior like juvenile-criminal law (Lenhart A, 2009).argues, the people should be very aware of sexting due to one of the influence of using social media.

In other case, researchers have proved that a Is this a new phenomenon in social media called 'Facebook depression,' the definition is defined as developing before teenagers and teens who spend on online media, as described above, which cause classic symptoms of depression. (Davila J, 2009; Sturm S, 2010). Argues: be a factor that may trigger depression in some adolescents.

The effects of offline depression, in teenagers who suffer from very high risk and the addiction for social isolation 'help' which can prove misuse of sites, unsafe sexual practices, or aggressive destructive behaviors A very dangerous influence on online sites in adolescents when this ethics endangers their privacy. These teenagers themselves are caused by the use of improper technology, lack of respect for privacy, providing various data information on digital information, or posting false information about themselves or others (Barnes S, 2006).

A person visiting a trace on a website is certainly very easy to be tracked this can be seen in the trail of data they visit. and the activities they leave behind are monitored on the website, it must be realized that the digital track record is very influential on their future going forward. these tracks are easily tracked by their competitors.

'It recommend that young people should be respecting privacy issues, and the harmful effects of posting as pic, they are not aware of privacy issues often posting vulgar photos, messages and videos without understanding that 'what happens online stays online' ( Palfrey J et al, 2010). Many online venues are now prohibiting ads on sites where children and adolescents are participating.

The role of parents when it is important in teenage children, so that children can develop into a healthy person in using online social media to function and will not be affected in advertising can easily manipulate them Research Methodology This study is qualitative by using literature and resource review as the method in collecting the data.

The data is obtained from some resources such as books, journals, articles and online newspapers to discover and know the principles, theories and relevant matters to the quality of this study. In collecting the data, the writer searches some resources related to the topic and problems in this study. The data that have been collected from some resources are related logically, systematized, and analyzed by using analytical approach to interpret the result to answer the problems which have been formulated.

Result studies The Impact of Benefits and Risks of Children and Adolescents using social Media The influence of social media has created a revolution in the speed of information circulation through the virtual world and this is the fastest step for the latest generation of technology. The importance of online social media makes teens very dependent on social media to collect and share information in actual terms.

The need for policies and sorting out the general and specific certainly involves the role of parents for the generation that began to invoke gods to shape the character of the nation and state. Parental direction, as well as the environment, make the youth will be able to think constructive, the habit of reading in adolescents will have an impact on increasing social relationships, where they are more able to know the characteristics, culture, and social life Communities so they can adapt to various communities wherever they are. Parents take the important role in protecting and controlling their teenager's activity, especially when they are using their social media.

Their children may be at some risks when they are accessing their social media. Therefore social Media is globally limitless which provides a social Media is globally limitless which provides a variety of various accesses. Unlimited virtual world is able to make every positive influence can be a weapon that is the opposite of a bad impact can even form criminal opinion on social media, ranging from hate speech, acts of pornography, slander etc. Conclusion There are several benefits of adolescents using social media.

First, social media participation can benefit that extends the point is, society, and the virtual world, including access and communication. Secondly, social media also increases the opportunity to create a place where creativity plays them to learn more about knowledge through social media access that certain people can learn and certain children that are virtual worlds.
